In 1995, he met his wife Vicki (yes, it's Victor and Victoria) while vacationing in Florida. She lived in Birmingham, Alabama, so by the end of the year, he moved there, took the Alabama bar exam, and worked as a litigation associate for a few years in Birmingham. After obtaining her PhD in psychology, Vicki took a job as a professor at Warren Wilson College in Swannanoa, North Carolina, just outside Asheville. Victor was admitted to the North Carolina Bar in February of 1998. After a brief stint working for another attorney in the Asheville area, Victor began his own practice in the fall of 1998.

Victor and Vicki live in Asheville. They have two children, a daughter who has left the nest to attend college, and a son who is still at home attending middle school. When he's not practicing law or managing Fidelicare and Garlock & McKinney, he enjoys time with his family, which includes playing video games (badly) with his son, playing table tennis (better than video games, but still not that great) and traveling.

Vicki Garlock is the nurture coordinator at Jubilee! Community Church in Asheville, North Carolina, where she has developed an interfaith Sunday school curriculum for children in preschool through eighth grade. She is also the founder of Faith Seeker Kids.

She earned her undergraduate psychology degree from Brown University and received a Ph.D. from the University of Alabama at Birmingham with dual specialties in neuroscience and cognitive development. She spent 11 years as a professor at Warren Wilson College, teaching a variety of courses related to child development, biopsychology, and learning/cognition. She is co-author of A Precious Window of Time: A Manual for Teaching and Nurturing Middle School Girls (2008). Vicki loves thinking and hearing about various faith/interfaith approaches for kids and finds TIO a great resource for ideas. She lives in Asheville, North Carolina with her husband and two kids.
